ANTIQUE ELECTRONICS INVENTORY

SUNSHINE RADIO MUSEUM FOUNDED 1926
Vintage Electronics
The Look and Sound of Yesteryear
www.SunshineRadioMuseum.org

This VINTAGE ELECTRONICS INVENTORY consists of various products of interest created during the birth of electronics during the last century. It is an ongoing activity to merge various products into a meaningful and operator friendly database. The listings include products used in our exhibits as well as items destined to be released for sale to enable the opportunity for the best restoration and usage.

This inventory listing is presented using a set of various codes as shown on this document. The main list is sorted by "Department Code", then by "Product Code", then by "Make" and finally by "Model Number". Pictures are available for some items marked with a "yes" in the "PIC" column. The pictures are then listed numerically with "Stock" number shown in the photo gallery.

This listing and the pictures should answer many questions about particular products we have in our inventory that may eventually be included in various lots being offered for sale. However if there are certain items of interest we encourage your comments so you can be notified when they become available.

Pricing will soon be developed to show a "Value" typical of the quality level often found in the marketplace. A "Price" column will reflect the selling price of the particular item in our stock and it may be higher or lower than the "Value" depending upon it's rating. The rating will be based upon the "condition" and the "performance" determined for the product.

The amounts specified would be subject to change depending upon the market price and the possible upgrading or downgrading of the item in our stock. Funds received in the sale of these products plus the income from the sale of parts and data is applied to the operating costs of the Sunshine Radio Museum.
